The Good Lovelies & The Human Statues

Light-hearted lyrics and big-hearted music in double-bill event

Saturday, November 12th at 7:30 pm

St. Albert, AB – Two Canadian groups which have lit up the folk music circuit with their buoyant dispositions and jubilant personalities, appear at the Arden Theatre on November 12 in a double bill event. Sassy and quirky trio The Good Lovelies and happy-go-lucky duo The Human Statues promise an infectiously cheerful night of music with their whimsical brands of country, jazz, and rock-infused folk.

Funny and upbeat, with just a pinch of sass, the Good Lovelies boast impressively spot-on '40s inspired vocal melodies and glorious bouncing lines on banjo, guitar, mandolin, and glockenspiel. The charismatic group, described by The Globe and Mail as "all sun, serotonin, and retro-radio", leaven life with a few laughs in their catchy lyrics, witty on-stage banter, and effervescent attitude. City and country, highway and home, wistful and cheeky, the Good Lovelies' third full-length album, Let the Rain Fall showcases their sense of humour and self-assurance in songs like Made for Rain, Mrs. T, Best I Know, and Kiss Me in the Kitchen. While the overarching theme of the album is that of tension between comforts of home and the lure of the troubadour life, broad grins are never far apart.

The Human Statues, comprised of Jeff Bryant and Zach Stevenson, are on a mission to spread jubilation across the nation. Whether it's playing high-energy band shows or intimate acoustic performances in theatres across the country, Jeff and Zach are committed to connecting with people through humour, authenticity, energetic pop sensibility, and an absolute love of music. Far from static on stage, the Human Statues' individual backgrounds in theatre bring an added performance element that consistently wins over audiences. While their songs predominantly feature simple, upbeat sentiments, upon further scrutiny you'll be sure to find deeper ground, honesty, and bursting personality.
